Gather Round Curriculum

A new inter-denominational Christian co-op is starting next fall in Dryden. Families gather once a week for a shared lesson, small-group work, and hands-on activities — using the open-and-go Gather Round curriculum. Students vote on the unit before the session begins. One parent per family participates; no lesson prep required.

COMMON QUESTIONS

WHO IS THIS FOR?

Children ages 4 and up. Three-year-olds may join if they are already in JK and can sit through a lesson.

WHAT CURRICULUM DO WE USE?

Gather Round Homeschool — open-and-go, no prep needed. Students vote between two unit options before the session starts.

DO I HAVE TO BUY ANYTHING?

Each family purchases their own teacher's guide and student books. If enough families need to buy, we may be able to arrange a group discount directly with Gather Round.

WHAT IS MY ROLE AS A PARENT?

One parent per family must participate — either leading a small skill-level group or helping in the toddler room. No lesson prep is required.

WHAT ABOUT BABIES AND TODDLERS?

Little ones are cared for in a separate room by co-op parents during school time, at a 1:4 parent-to-child ratio.

WHAT DOES IT COST?

Less than $5 per family per week for a rented space — and only if our numbers are large enough. A free space would be used first if available.

WHAT IF WE MISS A WEEK?

It is your family's responsibility to catch up or simply skip that week. Parent teachers are not responsible for teaching missed material.

IS THIS ONE DENOMINATION?

No. The co-op is inter-denominational. We pray together before each lesson and use Christian curriculum, but no single theology is taught or debated.
