

The team that makes the yes sustainable.

A community development contract at $20k+/month is a real inflection point. It only stays a yes if the practitioner's days with the kids stay sacred and the on-the-ground execution doesn't depend on one phone, one inbox, one tired person. Below is the operating structure that makes both true — and the budget that proves it fits.

THE TEAM · MONTHLY

Role	What it absorbs	Hrs/wk	Rate	Monthly
Operations Manager Dryden, on-site	Phone, inbox, day-of fires; 807 ops + Deer Lake aggregation & distribution.	40	$40	$7,000
Bookkeeper / Admin Remote	Invoicing, contracts, CRA, the back office of the agency.	10	$40	$1,700
Housecleaner	Recurring weekly clean so the house is not the bottleneck.	4	$30	$500
Tutor Winter-weighted	Math, reading, structure. ~10 hrs/wk Nov–Apr; ~2 hrs/wk in summer.	~6	$35	$900
Handyman-Housekeeper Consider · don't commit	Small jobs that pile up; positive male presence around the boys. References & paid trial weeks required.	5	$30	$700
Team total	Five roles, fully loaded	~65	—	$10,800

HOW IT FITS INSIDE THE CONTRACT

Contract size	Team (rounded)	Practitioner take-home	Agency reinvest
$20,000 / mo	$11,000	$7,000	$2,000
$25,000 / mo	$11,000	$9,000	$5,000
$30,000 / mo	$11,000	$11,000	$8,000

Team line is rounded up from $10,800 to absorb statutory costs and small variances. Each row reconciles to the contract size on the left.

THE ASK

A monthly retainer of $25,000 against a 12-month engagement, reviewed at month 6. This funds the team that delivers the work, keeps the practitioner in the field long enough to actually do the job, and seeds the agency the next contract will live inside.

WHAT YOU GET FOR IT

An optimised food-price model, delivery execution that holds in winter, a coordinator infrastructure that scales to more communities, and a partner who is rested enough to do this work for years — not a tired person trying to be a team of one.
